

Hood's Cures

"I was troubled with terrible pain in my back and also had kidney difficulty. For 27 years I suffered. I took Hood's Serravallo and began to get better. I have not had an attack since I began to use it. I was also cured of catarrh in the head and am now in good health." D. M. Ross, Denton, Iowa.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. 25c.

HAVE YOU GOT PILES?

WHY MINISTRIES CHANGE OFTEN.

A Possible Explanation of the Unstability of the French Cabinet. There are scores of clever lawyers, doctors, journalists and professors, half loafers, half busybodies, in every department in France, in numbers sufficient to afford a surplussage of candidates for every arduous position to whom the life of the provinces is dull and distasteful whom Paris invites with temptations of all sorts. The steady routine practice of the country lawyer and doctor and the church steeple politics of the provincial newspaper offer only a long and fatiguing journey to no particular goal, or to a goal not particularly worth arriving at. Paris itself is a Frenchman's ambition. The question is how to get there. To arrive in the character of a deputy seems the most feasible plan.

The yearly pay of $250 which each deputy receives is an income larger than that to which the laborious doctor or lawyer or journalist in the country may work his way toward the close of his life. To become a deputy, provincial notoriety is necessary. The respect and confidence of one's fellow citizens is an acquisition which may take half a lifetime to gain and comes insensibly to those who do not seek it and who would not care to use it for their own advantage. Notoriety is of much quicker achievement. It can be won almost instantaneously by the crudest arts of the tongue and the sophist.

The deputy's salary is a sufficient income with which to venture on Paris, but however virtuous the new deputy's intentions, and however frugal his plans of living he soon finds that it is not enough to keep him there. He must find means of adding to it. He establishes or becomes connected with a newspaper and makes his profit out of the tradesmen's or the projector's appreciation of the advantages of publicity.

As a deputy, perhaps as a member of a committee of the chamber, he has the means of promoting concessions to this or that contractor, the genuine character and the substantial value of which are shown by the price the contractor is willing to pay for the deputy's help. As a minister, however, his power of usefulness to himself and others would be much greater than it is when he is a private member. Hence, as well as from a genuinely political ambition, his desire for a portfolio. Hence, largely, the rapid sequence of ministries in France.—National Review.

Girls With Fads.

Girls with fads are types all by themselves. There's the girl with the Delorsade fad. And the girl who goes in for amateur theatricals. Also the damsel who has the elocution craze (the gods defend us), and the philanthropic girl who teaches in missions, free kindergartens, goes to Hull House and assists in working-girls' lunchrooms.

And last but not least there's the business girl. She has to earn her own living, and yet she contrives to be almost as cheerful, dainty, well bred, well dressed and sweet tempered as her more fortunate sister who knows nothing of the seamy side of life or the trials of money getting. The girl whose father or brother takes care of her knows only one sort of men—the chivalrous gentlemen who meet her in her own home or in society. Fortunately for her she never has to learn that often those same men have a different side to their characters which is not concealed from the disillusioned, disenchanted but plucky little business woman.—Chicago News-Record.

RAILROAD TIES.

Canadian railroads stretch 15,388 miles. The Nickel Plate last year increased its equipment by 10 locomotives and 1,000 box cars. Under the name of Wichita Falls and Oklahoma a company has been incorporated and a charter filed in Texas.

FASHIONABLE CAPES.

They Are All the Rage, and the Ladies Must Have Them. If you wish to be in fashion this season, you must wear capes. Not one cape, but just as many as the contents of your pocketbook will allow. All your street dresses should have capes to match. You should wear over your dainty cambric frocks a cape of sheer nainsook laden with ruffles of embroidery. For church wear you should have a cape of dark velvet and black lace.

EMINENCE IN COLOR. To throw over your shoulders after the hop at the summer hotel you should have a cape of some delicately tinted velvet embroidered in pearls and finished with frills of old lace. The cape shown in the illustration is cut in the latest design. There are three graduated capes and a high medicinal collar. The first cape is of black lace, which is arranged in plaits and has a spreading tendency. This cape just covers the shoulders. Below it is a plaited cape of emerald velvet, with the edge elaborately embroidered in pearls of pink and violet tints. The last frill of the cape is a deep one of black lace. The collar is of emerald velvet embroidered in pearls and finished with a ruching of the lace.

To Brew a Good Cup of Tea. In China they pour boiling water into a cup and turn some tea into it, and when the leaves sink to the bottom, which happens in a few seconds, they pour the water off and drink it. We, on the contrary, let the tea "stand" sometimes, even in the drawing room, while in the servants' hall it is allowed regularly to stew on the hob until a brown decoction of equal strength and bitterness is ready to be served, to the detriment of the nerves of all who drink it on account of the tannin squeezed, so to speak, out of the stewed tea leaves. Now, the remedy for this very easy and consists in never allowing tea, when made, to stand for more than three minutes at most, or, better still, to have it made in one teapot and poured off into another.

Woman's Age.

"What is the most interesting age in woman?" was a question recently discussed by an artist, an author and a woman of society. The artist said that he did not like to paint the portraits of those between the ages of 25 and 40. Before 25 the face has an expectancy which charms. It is looking forward with joyous freshness and hope and is full of puzzling promises. At 40 years the character is formed, and the lines of the countenance are strong for the painter's study, but in intervening years the face has lost its expectancy, is apt to be in different and has no particular interest. The author differed from the artist. He liked to study women between the ages of 30 and 40. They had then the experience of the world and the joyousness of youth. In those years they were bright and most interesting. The society woman thought that it was impossible to make general answers to the question, as individual women differ in regard to the most attractive age. Some are most charming at 60 years, while others have passed their prime at 20. The best answer would be that women are always beautiful to the friends who love them.

Green the Prevailing Color.

Green promises to continue in favor this spring, and for hat trimmings there are some exquisite new shades. A pretty hat is of light green fancy straw, with low crown and wide brim, slightly bent toward the front. Pale pink roses, with a beautiful shade of soft green velvet, form the side trimming. A wreath of small pink roses extends around the crown, and just under the brim in front are two roses to rest against the hair of the wearer.

Palm Leaf Fan Table.

For a table take three palm leaf fans, cut off the handles, paint them white, full white satin ribbon about them and overlap them in the form of a clover leaf.

ACE-HOMESHADE.

Tack them together with white silk and get a carpenter to make a tin board, which must be just that shape. Paint it white and take three broomstick handles painted white, cross them, wire them at the crossing and screw the wooden top to them. Upon this tack wooden top to the three palm leaf fans, painting the heads of the tacks white that they may not be seen. The white satin bow where the sticks cross, and you will have a very unique and pretty little table.

COOKING MACARONI.

A Delicious Dish Which Few Understand How to Make. Macaroni requires abundance of water to cook it properly, at least three quarts of salted boiling water being required to half a pound of macaroni, says the New York Tribune. This abundance gives the pasta a chance to swell. The water should boil rapidly, and the macaroni should be stirred occasionally with a fork to prevent the pieces from clinging together. It should boil at least 35 minutes for the small and three-quarters of an hour for the large macaroni. After the macaroni is cooked it should be drained in a colander. Then the colander should be set in the mouth of the pot in which the macaroni was cooked, covered up closely with a cloth, to allow it to steam dry while you prepare the tomato sauce.

Take a slice of carrot, a small onion, a leaf or two of thyme, a quarter of a bay leaf, two peppers, one clove and fry them in a tablespoonful of butter. Add a sprig of parsley and about an inch of celery stalk cut in bits. When the vegetables are well colored, stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour and let it brown four. Add a quart can of tomatoes very slowly. Then set the saucepan on the back part of the stove and let its contents simmer very slowly for half an hour. Stir this sauce repeatedly while it is boiling, and when it is done strain it through a purple sieve, or a common flour sieve if you have nothing better. Add a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar. This tomato sauce will be enough for a pound and a half of macaroni, which will be sufficient to fill two large dishes. But the sauce will keep an indefinite time in cold weather, and it is just as well to make double the quantity you need at a time. After the sauce is made and the macaroni is cooked take a large open vegetable dish, put a layer of macaroni in the bottom, season it with a mere suspicion of white pepper, put a tablespoonful of Parmesan cheese over it and moisten it well with the tomato sauce. Continue this till the dish is full and cover it with tomato sauce. It will take a pint of tomato sauce and about 6 tablespoonfuls of grated Parmesan cheese to a large dish of macaroni. Set the dish of macaroni in the oven for about 10 minutes and then serve it.

The Latest Novelty.

The society girl needs it and has invented it to meet her requirements: The shoe drawer and the shoe bag are well known. The latest novelty is a shoe cabinet. It is a small cabinet with a glass front, and when she has hung it on the wall and adorned the shelves with the triumphs of the shoemaker's art the wall decoration speaks for itself. Every society woman with small feet and pretty shoes needs just such a case in her boudoir.

Housecleaning.

To clean your polished furniture take 1 ounce white wax, 3 ounces beeswax, 1 ounce of curd soap, 1 pint of turpentine. 1 pint of water, first boiled and then allowed to get cold. Marble may most effectively be cleaned with 4 ounces of very finely powdered pumice stone, added to a half pound of powdered soda, with 4 ounces of chalk, sifted through a sieve, mixed to a paste with water and rubbed over the stone, and afterward wash with soap and water. Every mirror in the house would be improved by being carefully sponged all over with spirits of wine, then dusted with finely sifted powder blue and polished with an old silk handkerchief or soft dry cloth.

Something New.

The latest specialty is a hair doctor. She is a woman, the first and thus far the only doctor of her kind. She has studied the hair as other doctors study the lungs or nerves. Her lecture rooms is some up town drawing room. Her students sit on camp chairs in visiting costumes of the latest fashion and hurry from class to be present at teas. The doctor has a maudlin and a microscope, and the hostess usually lends her own head for an object lesson. This is a special sort of massage for the head which is intended to stimulate the secretions and keep down gray hairs. There must be no hair washes. Twice a year only the hair is to be washed, and then gently with a simple soap and glycerin rubbed gently around the roots. All the rest is brushing and head massage, a light manipulation that may not disturb the tender young hair plants which grow on the garden of the head.

Salted Peasants.

Do you despise the unpretentious peasant? Have you ever tried them in this way? Buy the green or unparched peas, parboil them, rub off the red envelope, spread the blanched nuts on a tin dish, treat them to butter, then brown them for half an hour in a baking pot, and when they are a light snuff color take them out at once and salt them while hot. Do this and you will be made to think that so much of your life has passed without your knowing how much better peasants are in that condition than sinners.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine in the case of myself and wife. Just two years ago I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I was unable to rest, and was greatly prostrated. I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet at a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; by systematic general health greatly improved. I have since used it and have saved twenty pounds. ALL THIS OCCURRED AFTER I HAD TAKEN ONLY ONE BOTTLE. My wife has also benefited. My wife is taking the Nervine with the best of results. LOUIS D.
